PRESS RELEASE

ADAMI STUDIO-Minsk has started

The ADAMI Media Prize for Cultural Diversity in Eastern Europe is launching a workshop for fiction and documentary film projects in the editing stage, which deal with topics of cultural diversity, tolerance, integration or peaceful coexistence. The workshop is organized with the International Film Festival LISTAPAD and is held in Minsk, Belarus, Nov 6-8, 2019 for Belarusian and Ukrainian participants.

The workshop is to generate participant exchange and feedback, introduce different storytelling approaches and increase the appeal of the films to a wider, international audience. The workshop is taking place in several editing rooms, where participants receive tutoring from experienced filmmakers/editors and are working on each other's edits. Aside from the work in the editing room, ADAMI Studio participants will be given the chance to attend screenings and networking events that the festival offers to its international guests. All Belarusian and Ukrainian production companies, TV stations or individual producers/filmmakers had the chance to participate in this workshop. Five projects have been selected for the editing workshop, conducted by three international experts: Acclaimed editors and directors Lena Rem (Germany), Sergey Bukovsky (Ukraine) and Andrej Polupanov (Belarus).

About the ADAMI Media Prize for Cultural Diversity in Eastern Europe: The ADAMI Media Prize was created to encourage filmmakers, journalists and audio-visual media professionals in the EU Eastern Partnership countries to promote topics of migration, tolerance, and cultural diversity. The prize rewards outstanding TV, film and online projects, that deal with diversity-related issues. Alongside the prize, ADAMI organizes several events for networking and fosters exchange among media professionals in Eastern Europe and the EU.
