

ADAMI Media Prize Awards 2020 to Showcase Cultural Diversity in Eastern Europe

The ADAMI Media Prize for Cultural Diversity in Eastern Europe is holding its 2020 awards ceremony! Despite COVID-19 restrictions, this year's ADAMI Awards promise to be both exciting and entertaining. The ceremony will be broadcast simultaneously in Georgia, Moldova and Ukraine in cooperation with ADAMI partners Georgian Public Broadcaster (GPB), Tele Radio Moldova (TRM), and Espresso TV, Kyiv.

The event will air on Georgian Public Broadcaster (GPB) December 17th at 19.00 in Tbilisi, at 17.00 in Chisinau and 23.00 in Kyiv. There will be a live stream for viewers around the world at 16.00 CET on ADAMI's website: www.adamimediaprize.eu as well as on ADAMI's YouTube Channel. The stream will be repeated at 20.00 CET for those who missed it!

The guest of honour of the Award Ceremony is the EU Ambassador to Georgia, Mr. Carl Hartzell. Entertainment will include a special musical performance by Carl Hartzell together with the winner of Voice of Germany contest, the rising Georgian singing star Natia Todua.

Presenters from our broadcast partners, Elene Kalandadze (GPB), Doina Stimpovschi (TRM) and Tetiana Litvinova (Espresso TV), will announce the nominated works and awards in categories that include TV Information/Documentary, TV News/Short Non-Fiction, TV Entertainment (Fiction), Web Videos, and Young ADAMI.

The ADAMI Media Prize is the most significant award for TV journalists, filmmakers and online media producers from the six EU Eastern Partnership countries. ADAMI received more than 300 submissions for this year's competition, demonstrating the importance of cultural diversity themes even during the challenges of a global pandemic. A jury of international media specialists gathered in person in Ljubljana and as well as during the online sessions to select the prize nominees, fellowship, and special mention recipients.

This year's award ceremony is being held under the auspices of Marija Pejčinović Burić , Secretary General of the Council of Europe.

ADAMI MEDIA PRIZE FOR CULTURAL DIVERSITY IN EASTERN EUROPE

ADAMI Medienpreis gGmbH
Mediencampus Villa Ida
Menckestraße 27
D-04155 Leipzig

For more information / press material please contact:

Philomena Grassl
Tbilisi, Georgia
+995 555 12 23 31
philo.grassl@adamimediaprize.eu
www.adamimediaprize.eu
<https://www.facebook.com/adamimediaprize>
ADAMI Media Prize YouTube Channel

The ADAMI Media Prize is funded by

ADAMI Activities 2020 are supported by

The ADAMI Award Ceremony is held under the patronage of the Secretary General of the Council of Europe, Ms Marija Pejčinović Burić

In cooperation with the Georgian Public Broadcaster, Teleradio Moldova and Espresso TV

ЕСПРЕСО

